

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The City of Richmond Comprehensive Plan is the result of the efforts of a public planning process involving the residents of Richmond, community stakeholders, public and private institutions, public officials and professional individuals. As participants in the planning process, their hard work and dedication to the future of Richmond is reflected in a living document that not only values and celebrates Richmond's rich history but also looks to the future by creating a vision that will provide a unique quality of life that our residents and visitors can enjoy for future generations. Even though their names are not individually listed below, acknowledgement and appreciation are extended to all citizens, community groups, organizations, and volunteer facilitators who have participated in the Comprehensive Plan planning process and review, and who provided input and attended numerous public meetings over the years of plan development. Their interest and suggestions have helped create a plan which represents the wishes of Richmond's residents and without which this plan would not have been possible.
